

Webinar: A Life at Full Potential: Transcending Addiction

In a world that constantly poses challenges, it becomes important to support each other, so that we manifest humanity to transcend these challenges and be in continuous action. Addiction disrupts lives to the extent that there is an imperative need for support and action. Awareness and information enhance knowledge about addiction and rehab gives respite with counselling and medical support. In order to realize the potential and wellbeing of people, it is important to go beyond such partial solutions, and be in action to generate equitable and enduring results, by sourcing one's inner capacity to shift life depleting systems, structures, norms and activities. In doing so, we can foster self-responsibility, agency and wellbeing for all. The Conscious Full Spectrum Response model is a foundational design template to shift systems and norms that perpetuate substance abuse, through sourcing universal values for fulfilling careers and lives. RTL is a unique approach and methodology created by Dr. Monica Sharma and described in her book Radical Transformational Leadership.

This webinar brings together Radical Transformational Leadership Practitioners and their partner organisations in India, Egypt and Ireland, who are committed in the area of fostering wellbeing and creating opportunities for a life at full potential.

The webinar will include speakers that profile RTL and non RTL practitioner interventions for well being and a life at full potential.
