

Radical Transformational Leadership for Realizing SDGs

Radical Transformational Leadership for Here and Now 2026 (Hybrid)

*A Unique Four-Part Hybrid/Online Workshop Series of Nine Days over 4 months
September 26-28; October 24-25; November 21-22; December 19-20, 2026*

This social transformation programme is designed to unleash the full potential and ethical leadership in ourselves and inspire others to do so to transform our lives, our work and our society by leading our projects using a whole systems methodology and design principles. It will provide you with approaches, templates and tools to expand your reach and impact, through shaping a breakthrough initiative, which transforms how you lead your projects and make a difference locally and in the world. It offers opportunities to established or budding leaders from the public, private, and non-profit organizations to build results/action-based alliances and create paradigmatic shifts.

BACKGROUND

This workshop is jointly conducted by RTLWorks and RTL in Auroville.

RTLWorks is committed to realizing the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) through constellation of individuals and organizations committed to well-being for all and this is very relevant to today's times.

RTL in Auroville, provides Radical Transformational Leadership programs in English and Tamil for the community in Auroville and its bio-region enabling participants to design and implement breakthrough initiatives, expand their reach and generate significant transformative change.

Everybody can choose to be a radical transformational leader and contribute to addressing our challenges be it in our society, home or workplace. This needs new transformations that source our inner capacities, and new design to make a difference. This implies that we can shift unworkable cultural norms and systems to generate extraordinary results. The word radical means “root.” The Oxford English Dictionary defines radical as “relating to or affecting the fundamental nature of something.” We are using the word radical in this sense—the root of our being, our innate self, which manifests when our ego takes a back seat. This implies that we can shift unworkable cultural norms and systems to generate extraordinary results.

Today, we face conflicts and crises for our planet and humanity that shake the very foundation on which we exist. Even though we know what to do to solve problems of injustice and poverty, respond to the environmental crisis, and have the resources; often, we neither act for our well-being nor address crucial issues to create a thriving community and planet. An alignment is missing between these actions and our deepest values, leading to partial responses. Alignment with our innate values, such as caring and dignity. These deep values are “universal values” that apply to everyone, everywhere, not just to those close to us.

Solutions lie in our capacity to design and implement large scale programs in society and in institutions in a more sustainable and equitable manner. To do this, we must locate new opportunities; integrate short- and long-term thinking and harness knowledge and technology to create new patterns and systems by embodying values, respecting everyone and embracing diversity. This calls for creating cultural transformation that is large scale and sustainable through generative conversations and action that enhance wellbeing and equitable growth of all.

There are some critical questions that we face and must ask:

- Why does 1 % of the world population own 44% of the global assets? (Credit Suisse Global Wealth Report 2019).
- Why does our country - and the world - continue to be challenged by so much injustice, social exclusion, inequities, and disparities?
- With the Indian economy now the 12th largest in the world, why does one farmer commit suicide every 30 minutes? Why is there a growing intolerance to differences and diversity?

Answering these questions, will require us to shake off the fragmented approaches of the past, and evolve new ways of being, thinking and acting that fundamentally transform the theories and nature of the current development practices.

Philanthropic and corporate engagement in India has been increasing and has a potential to positively impact our society through sustainable measures to address environmental, social and governance challenges. Transforming and building leadership in the health and education sectors (schools and colleges) is a strategic opportunity to bring about a new and next generation of 'responsible global citizenry and youth of the world' given the demographic pattern and the large proportion of youth in India. It calls for citizens to not only respond to the pandemic, but to also realize their potential to build resilience and create thriving and healthy societies that place emphasis on healing and wellbeing.

PURPOSE OF THE PROGRAMME

To foster leaders and organizations who source their full potential for ethical leadership and hold multiple principled perspectives based on universal values in solving problems by shifting systems and cultural norms for human and environmental wellbeing.

OBJECTIVES

1. Source one's creativity and full potential for strategic and ethical action.
2. To explore the potential of human beings to realize their purpose in life and contribute towards this, while generating results by shifting unworkable systems.
3. Stimulate pattern thinking when identifying systems leverage and strategic drivers to transform systems of injustice and inequality while solving problems synergistically.
4. Create effective implementation strategies in the context of breakthrough initiatives to generate outcomes and impact; and know how to transform breakdowns into breakthroughs while in action, especially to deal with the pandemic.

Radical Transformational Leadership for Realizing SDGs

5. Formulate and align strategic actions and results to establish equitable and sustainable change. Design operational strategies to scale our ideas for immediate results as well as long term and large-scale sustainable impact.
6. Enable participants to move from only managing projects to leading transformational change and deliver tangible results based on ethics and universal values; practicing transformation techniques and methodologies in routine activities. Forge results-oriented partnerships across sector, issues, regions that will substantially strengthen each project and ensure large scale impact and transformation at the micro and macro levels.
7. To identify and interrupt disempowering and exclusionary practices and ‘isms’ that limit strategies projects towards a thriving society and planet.
8. Create trans-disciplinary strategies for ethical action and results dedicated to synergetic solutions.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

RTL Here and Now is an innovative leadership program that has been proven all over the world to generate needed paradigmatic shifts. This is a unique whole systems transformation-oriented, learning-in-action program that grounds us in our deepest values and existing expertise, enables us to hold multiple perspectives and guides us in designing for cultural and system-level changes.

THE MODEL

The programme will use a unique response model - the Conscious Full-Spectrum Response (CFSR) model - which is a cutting-edge, new generation thinking that has been proven to generate transformative changes worldwide and is designed by Dr. Monica Sharma (author of “Radical Transformational Leadership: Strategic Action for Change Agents”). The book is based on her vast and extensive experience over 35 years of application of various methods, templates and tools for tangible results for people’s development worldwide, in over 60 countries.

This meta-frame is designed to, simultaneously in time, solve problems and generate measurable results, transform unworkable systems and cultural norms that perpetuate these problems, and create new patterns sourced from individuals’ inner capacity, universal values and transformational leadership. It plays a critical role in redefining ‘Development’ encompassing our inner and outer worlds, both as individuals and groups, so as to source the far reaches of the human and cultural capabilities to address the challenges we face. It intertwines three threads of a paradigm shift: (a) source our wisdom/inner potential and universal values for action; (b) shift cultural norms, systems, and structures that maintain the status quo and become principled game changers; and (c) solve problems in order to generate specific equitable and sustainable results.

The Conscious Full-Spectrum Response model can be applied to any field since it is subject-agnostic and fosters the ability to simultaneously hold multiple perspectives and yet have principled action and results. This new way of thinking and doing offers a new path for today’s leaders - social and environmental practitioners, teachers, media and legal professionals, activists and philanthropists, entrepreneurs and government representatives/staff-to experience the deeper convergence of principles, purpose and practice to generate concrete results that benefit all of humanity.

The Conscious Full Spectrum Response Model is the foundational development model for transformation. The Conscious Full-Spectrum Response (CFSR) model is a transdisciplinary model and template for strategic action and is robust enough to hold the frameworks of different disciplines, various schools of thought. The Conscious Full-Spectrum Response model can be applied to any field since it is subject-agnostic and fosters the ability to simultaneously hold multiple perspectives and yet have principled action and results. This new way of thinking and doing offers a new path for today's leaders-social and environmental practitioners, teachers, media and legal professionals, activists and philanthropists, entrepreneurs and government representatives/staff-to experience the deeper convergence of principles, purpose and practice to generate concrete results that benefit all of humanity.

The program is designed to overcome traditional limitations by introducing a comprehensive set of approaches that encompasses all relevant dimensions of current and emerging change processes. It requires citizens and stewards/leaders of change to accelerate their own transformative process. The design requires participants to build upon their projects that they care about and wish to transform and explore work at scale and innovate.

"The world we have made as a result of the level of thinking we have done thus far creates problems that we cannot solve at the same level at which we have created them... We shall require a substantially new manner of thinking if humankind is to survive..." - Albert Einstein

"Poverty is not an accident. Like slavery and apartheid, it is man-made and can be removed by the actions of human beings." - Nelson Mandela

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE?

Any individual and organization who burns for equity, human unity and dignity for everyone and is in action and is working and committed to the SDGs and desires to make difference in our society for sustainable change that entails sourcing universal values and ethical action and for social and environmental well-being; organizations and individuals in Education/Academia, Corporate, Government, Civil Society, Communication and Media. More than one participant from an organization or team is encouraged to apply.

What Participants Say

"For me undergoing the RTL program since 2014 has helped me to become a stronger person and given me the courage to speak from stand and principles for justice and fairness without worrying about the consequences and my fears. The various tools in the Stewardship Program has enabled me to redesign my community mental health project which is now more inclusive, sustainable and engaging multiple stakeholders".

"RTL took me to a place where I could explore myself, create meaning in everyday actions at home, workplace and society. I see myself as an interconnected being in my everyday actions. The CFSR model and all the tools have helped me anchor myself in what I care about, see the big picture to navigate through complexities and be in action in reality."

"This leadership program woke me to the responsibility I have to be at my full potential

Radical Transformational Leadership for Realizing SDGs

connected to what I really care about as an agent of change in the world. It gave me the courage to face the disparity and polarization that is so evident in today's world, to stand in universal values speaking up for equity for all. The program taught me to design differently, always keeping universal values as the core element while challenging norms and systems that create and maintain problems and designing and implementing values-based solutions that leave no-one out. I feel I am walking a path of growth and continual learning that will be lifelong".

"I stand for equality and equity for myself and others. Stewardship helps me to constantly reflect on what I have done and what I am going to do by using the integrity lens and transforming destructive anger to courageous heart response. It makes me question myself and look at problems as opportunities. I use the tools and templates to align, ground myself and to feel whole as a human being".

"A process that has helped me to see that I am an agent of change, it was a catalyst that has stimulated me to be part of the change I wish to see, it has expanded and structured the way I dream and given me the space and tools to manifest these dreams for a better life for all. It is a continuous deepening and day to day practice".
